On The Way

The Mass in Slowest Motion: Communion

I omitted one thing in last week's reflection on the preparation for Communion: the priest's private prayer. This is another of the so-called "secret" prayers of the priest – secret not because it is forbidden for others to know but because the priest says it privately (secreto). The Church has the priest say such prayers in the liturgy (e.g. prior to reading the Gospel) as a way of prompting him to invest himself personally. It is easy for a priest to become just a functionary, leading people in prayer but not actually praying himself. And it is better for you that the priest doesn't just say the Mass but prays it.

After the congregation prays Lord, I am not worthy... the priest consumes the Host. He prays privately, May the Body of Christ keep me safe for eternal life. Likewise the Precious Blood from the chalice saying, May the Blood of Christ keep me safe for eternal life. He then spends a few moments in recollection before distributing Communion to the faithful.

Why does the priest communicate first? Some have argued that since the priest is the host of a sacred meal he should wait until everyone else has eaten before he does so. The Mass is, of course, a sacred meal. But this mistaken theory reduces it to just a meal. That the priest consumes the Eucharist prior to everyone else calls our attention to the fact that this is a different kind of meal. It is primarily the sacrifice of Christ. The priest, acting as the head of the body, fittingly communicates first. Then he nourishes the faithful with the same divine food he has consumed.

After the priest's communion, the Communion Antiphon is either chanted or recited. Traditionally, this verse points us back to the Gospel. Its words are drawn directly from that Mass's gospel or at least touch on its theme. That connection brings out the unity of the Mass: Christ's presence in the Gospel comes to fulfillment in the Eucharist; our hearing and responding to the Gospel is consummated by our reception of Him in Communion.

After the faithful have received Holy Communion, the priest returns to the altar, places the excess hosts in the tabernacle, and purifies the vessels. (Some of the vessels might be taken into the sacristy, but that's just for reasons of logistics and efficiency.) This is not meant to be just an ordinary cleaning of the dishes. Because Christ is present in each Host, in every fragment of the Host, and in each drop of the Precious Blood, the priest attentively purifies the vessels of any fragments or drops. We do not want to treat His presence casually.

After the purification the priest then prays the Post Communion prayer. This is sometimes mistakenly called the "final" or "closing" prayer. In fact, this prayer always refers back to the Communion just received and asks for good fruits from it.

The conclusion of Mass is amazingly simple (well, if there aren't too many announcements...). First, the standard greeting: the Lord be with you... Then the standard blessing or, on special occasions, a more solemn blessing. Then, the dismissal.

Next week: How to receive Holy Communion

Bánica Second Collection— August 29 & 30

On the weekend of August 29 & 30, the second collection will benefit the Bánica Mission in the Dominican Republic.

When we asked Father Scalia about the importance of the Bánica Mission, he had this to say: “In February of 2009 I had the privilege of visiting our diocesan missions in Banica and Pedro Santana. With my classmate and friend Father Chris Murphy, I traveled up into the mountains, to the campos that the priests could only get to once a month, at most. It was amazing to see the missionary work of the Church in the Dominican Republic. The missionaries bring the light and supernatural hope of the Gospel to the people. Their work also brings the simple helps to natural human development, such as education, infrastructure work, medicine, and so on.”

To learn more about the Bánica Mission and its work, visit: <https://arlingtonmissions.org/banica-mission/>

August 15 & 16—Second Collection for Feast of the Assumption of Mary

“My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord.” Luke 1:46

Today’s second collection will be in honor of the Feast of the Assumption of Mary. We celebrated this important Feast Day with additional Masses on Saturday, August 15th at 6:30am, 8:30am, and Noon.

In reflecting on the Solemnity of the Assumption, Pope Francis said that Mary “is the model of faith and virtue,” and in contemplating her assumption into heaven, we give her thanks “because she always precedes us on the pilgrimage of life and faith.” Pope Francis encourages us to ask Mary to “guard us and sustain us, that we may have a strong faith, joyful and merciful, and that she help us to be holy, to meet her one day, in paradise.”
