On The Way

Mass in Slowest Motion: How to receive Communion, II

Last week we looked at the spiritual and physical requirements for the reception of Holy Communion. Now we go over the logistics. The Church gives the faithful two ways to receive the sacred Host: on the tongue and in the hand. In both cases, the minister holds the Host before you and says, "The Body of Christ." You respond, "Amen."

First, Communion on the tongue (not "in the mouth," as people sometimes term it). The procedure is very simple: Open your mouth, extend your tongue and rest it on your bottom lip. Wait for the minister to place the host on your tongue.

Some observations. First, do not "stick out your tongue." Again, open your mouth, extend your tongue, and rest it on your bottom lip. Second, do not bite down on the Host. Some people try to time this biting with the minister's placing of the Host on the tongue. Please, don't.

Second, Communion in the hand. Here is the ancient instruction from Saint Cyril of Jerusalem (c. 350): "In approaching [for Communion] therefore, come not with your wrists extended, or your fingers spread; but make your left hand a throne for the right, as for that which is to receive a King. And having hollowed your palm, receive the body of Christ, saying over it, 'Amen.' So then, after having carefully hallowed your eyes by the touch of the holy body, partake of it; giving heed lest you lose any portion thereof; for whatever you lose is evidently a loss to you as it were from one of your own members."

Again, some observations.

Stand still. Haste makes waste...and could also make you drop the Host. Do not move while the minister is placing the Host in your hands.

Use both hands. If one of your hands is occupied with a child, rosary, car keys, a phone, or a wallet...then please receive on the tongue. Your hands, like your souls, should be completely free for our Lord.

Clean hands. Please make sure that your hands all cleansed from dirt and writing. The homework assignment or phone number written on the palm of your hand does not present a throne for our Lord.

Flat hands. Keep your hands flat. When your hands are at an angle, we get worried that the Host will fall from them.

Open hands. Hold them open to receive our Lord.

One hand on top of the other. Do not hold your hands side by side. Saint Cyril says that your right hand should be on top. But what is most important is that your dominant hand – your writing hand – be underneath and therefore able to take the Host and place it in your mouth.

Hands at chest level. You should hold them in front of your sternum.

Consume the Host immediately. There is a theological significance to receiving at the sanctuary: it expresses your communion with the altar. There is also a logistical reason: because walking off with the Host increases the chances of dropping it. It also increases the chances that the priest will think you're taking the Host for nefarious purposes (as some people do), in which case he will probably be at your elbow quickly, asking you to consume or return the Host.

Most of all, believe in the One you receive.

– Fr. Scalia
