On The Way

Catechesis on Creation: the Blessing of Original Sin?

The Church's teaching on original sin must strike many people as extraordinarily dark and pessimistic. That all of humanity is under a curse...that the entire cosmic order has been disturbed...that each of us, even the most beautiful newborn, enters the world with a spiritual infection, all because of one sin – this must seem unduly harsh.

It is indeed a painful truth. And yet, at the same time, there is a certain freedom and even peace that this teaching imparts.

Let's begin with the simple recognition that the world is imperfect. It is full of injustice, suffering, illness, death, oppression, murder, deceit, etc. We all sense that this should not be. But how we account for it and how we respond to it makes all the difference in the world.

The Catholic understanding is that all pain and suffering, injustice and oppression, illness and death has its ultimate source in the highest creature's rebellion against the Creator. Further, the solution to this comes not from us but from outside of us – from the only One Who can redeem an infinite offense and restore harmony.

The secular understanding is radically different. It can give no account for why the world is so wounded. With God out of the equation, there is no way to make sense of the disharmony in the world because there is no One Who established the original harmony – and no One to restore it. Thus, fixing injustice and restoring harmony becomes entirely our work. We must force our solutions on the fallen world – usually by way of some economic, sociological, or political revolution. The guillotine of the French Revolution, the “final solution” of the Nazi's, and the genocide of the Soviet Union were all ways of trying fix the problems of a fallen world.

The sober acknowledgement of the fallen world also brings us a certain equanimity, in two regards. First, knowing that the world is wounded, we are not surprised by suffering and pain, wickedness and evil. We are saddened, to be sure, and often angry. But we know that in a “valley of tears” such things are to be expected. We are not thrown off kilter by the appearance of evil. We know that it will afflict the world until Christ's return.

Second, it also helps us to have realistic expectations. Certainly, we seek to bring healing, reform, and justice to our communities. But to expect that we can eliminate all suffering is unrealistic and dangerous. Unrealistic, because the wound is deeper than we can reach. Dangerous, because our cure is often worse than the disease. After all, the easiest way to eliminate poverty is to eliminate the poor; a sure way to reduce unwanted pregnancies is to abort children; and a certain means to relieve the suffering of the ill is to euthanize them. In seeking to eliminate all suffering from the world, we create a hell on earth.

Holding fast to the doctrine of original sin keeps us from such excesses. We are not crushed by the reality of evil in the world but understand it as a given. And rather than trying to solve the problem ourselves, we look to the promised Redeemer Who will restore harmony.

Next week: the Promise of a Redeemer

Special Collection for Bánica Mission -August 21 & 22

During the month of August, we take up a special collection for the Bánica Mission in the Dominican Republic. Since 1991, the Arlington Diocese has regularly sent a priest to serve the two missionary parishes located in the nation’s rural highlands. The two parishes, in the neighboring towns of Bánica and Pedro Santana, minister to over 13,000 souls, most of who live in extreme poverty. Your donations enable the diocese to provide spiritual and material assistance to those who need it most. For more information about the Bánica Mission, please visit <https://arlingtonmissions.org/banica-mission/>. Thank you in advance for your generous support!

Sunday, August 15-Feast of the Assumption of Mary

The Feast of the Assumption of Mary falls on a Sunday this year. We will have our normal Mass schedule on this day. Because of this, the second collection in honor of this Feast will be combined with our normal offertory collection.

In reflecting on the Solemnity of the Assumption, Pope Francis said that Mary “is the model of faith and virtue,” and in contemplating her assumption into heaven, we give her thanks “because she always precedes us on the pilgrimage of life and faith.”

“My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord.” Luke 1:46

Farewell to Sister Melissa

The Parish and School community of Saint James extends our grateful prayers for many blessings for Sister Melissa as she leaves for her new ministry in Philadelphia. Her presence in our lives at Saint James for the last five years brought us great joy. Her high energy, innovative thinking and creative implementation of new ideas kept us all moving in the right direction and led us to expand our goal of providing excellence in education to our students. Her commitment to her vocation and to the spiritual development of all members of the school community is a gift for all of us that will long be cherished.

Wherever one encountered Sister Melissa, be it at drop-off dressed as a dinosaur, serving meals at Christ House with students, or travelling five hours on a bus for our graduates to experience a spiritual weekend at Franciscan University, she was never without her smile and dedication. We will miss her and promise her our prayers!

May she know God's blessings and peace as she takes the next steps on her journey as Principal of St. Monica School. We will miss you Sister Melissa!
