On The Way

Typing Lessons

A young man in the parish recently asked about appearances of Christ in the Old Testament. Specifically, did Jesus appear in the Old Testament? The short answer to that is No. The Son of God works throughout the Old Testament, in union with the Father and the Holy Spirit. But the Person of Jesus Christ does not appear in this world until Mary conceives Him in her womb.

However...there is a sense in which our Lord does "appear" in the Old Testament, by way of certain people that prefigure Him. The Old Testament narrative contains people, places, objects, and events that are "types" or images of something in the New Testament. They are historical events acting as prophecies to be fulfilled. Thus, the ancient saying that "the New Testament lies hidden in the Old and the Old Testament is unveiled in the New."

This way of reading scripture is traditionally known as typology. The people, places, and events of the Old Testament maintain their own historical value. But they also point ahead to the time of fulfillment, when the full meaning of what occurred then is revealed in the New Testament. Thus typology "discerns in God's works of the Old Covenant prefigurations of what He accomplished in the fullness of time in the Person of His incarnate Son" (CCC 128).

Each Old Testament type is both similar to and different from its New Testament fulfillment. The similarity reveals to us something more about the Old Testament type. We see it as not only isolated in history but also as a person or event that points forward, to the completion of salvation history. The difference reveals the greatness of the New Testament fulfillment.

We find this manner of interpretation in the New Testament itself. For example, we all know the story of Noah and the Ark (Gen 6-8). Saint Peter tells us that that event "prefigured baptism" (1Pt 3:21). This means that the historical figure Noah is also a "type" or image of Christ. By way of wood and water Noah saved humanity from the punishment for sin. Christ reveals the full meaning of this scene. He now saves humanity through the wood of the Cross and the water of Baptism. The Church has incorporated this interpretation into the Rite of Baptism. In praying over the water, the priest says, "O God, who by the outpouring of the flood foreshadowed regeneration, so that from the mystery of one and the same element of water would come an end to vice and a beginning of virtue."

So also Saint Paul, in Romans, teaches that Adam "was a type of the one who was to come" (Rom 5:14). Developing this point elsewhere, the Apostle explains, "just as in Adam all die, so too in Christ shall all be brought to life" (1 Cor 15:22). Just as we all suffer the effects of Adam's sin, so now we stand to receive the graces of Christ's victory. Indeed, this is central to our faith: to cease being "in Adam" and begin to live "in Christ."

This way of understanding the Old Testament clearly has deep roots in our faith. This column will consider some of the more notable types/prefigurations in the Old Testament so that we can better understand and appreciate the gifts of the New.

Second Collection for Haiti This Weekend 28-29 August

This weekend, August 28-29, we have added a second collection for Haiti. The death toll is rising and thousands are without shelter after the 7.2 earthquake struck Haiti on August 14th. Days later, Tropical Storm Grace swept over the ravaged landscape, hampering the complicated search and rescue mission. Countless others are injured and hospitals are already overwhelmed. When you give, you provide immediate assistance for our Haitian sisters and brothers desperate to survive this devastating situation. Needless to say, these disasters have severely damaged an already suffering nation. This second collection will go to the Emergency Disaster Fund of the American Bishops.

Thank you in advance for your generosity to this collection, which assists the Church in its mission to proclaim the Gospel by word, by sacrament, and by service of the poor. To donate online, visit <https://membership.faithdirect.net/givenow/VA50/44421>.

Second Collection for Catholic University 4-5 September

Next weekend, September 4-5, the diocese will be taking up the National Collection for The Catholic University of America. Located in the heart of the nation's capital, Catholic University, founded in 1887, offers graduate and undergraduate courses in more than 180 academic programs. By giving to the National Collection, you will help support more than 6,000 students who are seeking a faith-filled education at an institution that supports cutting edge research in multiple fields.

Your investment will enable the University to continue to support the Church and to advance its work of preparing the next generation of leadership, both religious and lay, of our Church and nation. It will also enable the continuance of The Catholic Project, a University initiative jumpstarted by philanthropy which aims to help bishops, priests, and the lay faithful develop a deeper understanding of the lay vocation and principles for effective action in the wake of the recent Church crisis. Through research, new academic programs, and dialogue, the project brings together the clergy and lay leaders to develop solutions to the issues facing our Church and bring about reforms. Thank you for your generosity. To donate online, visit <https://membership.faithdirect.net/givenow/VA50/1491>.

Afghan Emergency Assistance Drive

Last weekend, in conjunction with Catholic Charities, our Parish Outreach Committee conducted an emergency assistance drive for personal toiletry items for Afghan refugees who were being placed in emergency shelters in our area. Thank you and God bless everyone who came out on that same day with only an hour or two notice. The response for donations was truly phenomenal. The Director of Community Services at Catholic Charities informed us that our collected goods were greatly appreciated. The director wrote, "Success! Your donation drive was perfect! They badly needed-and we unloaded-underwear, deodorant, feminine products, toys.... Perfect!"
