On The Way

Virginia Education's Overreach

At the end of last month the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) issued Model Policies for the Treatment of Transgender Students in Virginia's Public Schools. Local school divisions may either adopt this document as approved or use it as the basis for their own (possibly more expansive) policies. The public comment period for these model policies started January 4th and lasts through February 3rd. I encourage you to visit the VDOE website and express opposition to this dangerous document.

The document claims to seek to assist those students who identify as transgendered. It is of course laudable to assist those who are in need. However, these proposals go much further than just helping and in fact promote the "transgender ideology" that Pope Francis has warned against.

First, the definition of gender identity is itself problematic: "A person's internal sense of their own identity as a boy/man, girl/woman, something in between, or outside the male/female binary" (p. 6). Thus "School divisions should accept a student's assertion of their gender identity without requiring any particular substantiating evidence, including diagnosis, treatment, or legal documents. A student is considered transgender if, at school, the student consistently asserts a gender identity different from the sex assigned at birth..." (p.12). This amazingly fluid, subjective, and unscientific definition is the basis for the document's policies.

Consider what this means for parental rights: "There are no regulations requiring school staff to notify a parent or guardian of a student's request to affirm their gender identity...[A] plan may include addressing the student at school with their asserted name and pronoun while using the legal name and pronoun associated with the sex assigned at birth when communicating with parents or guardians" (p.12). In other words, not only could a school leave the parents out of decisions and deliberations profoundly impacting their children; it could also deliberately deceive them.

Further, consider students' privacy, modesty, and safety in the use of bathrooms and locker rooms: "Access to facilities such as restrooms and locker rooms that correspond to a student's gender identity shall be available to all students... School staff should not confront students about their gender identity upon entry into the restroom" (p.18).

These policies would also compel speech: "For transgender students, acts of verbal harassment may include the intentional and persistent use of names and pronouns not consistent with their identity (p.10)...A school employee's intentional and persistent refusal to respect a student's asserted name and pronoun is considered discriminatory" (p.12). In other words, one must comply with the transgendered vocabulary. This is forced participation in error, another kind of verbal bullying. It is one thing to claim transgendered status and ask for kindness to those who are transgendered. It is another thing entirely to compel others to use language approving of it.

Again, it is laudable to want to ease the sufferings of others. But this document, in seeking to accommodate one group, cuts against parental rights, student safety, and freedom of speech. For more information on the document and how to act, I encourage you to visit the Virginia Catholic Conference (Yacatholic.org) and The Family Foundation (familyfoundation.org).

Receiving Communion at the Communion Rail

As you know, since the beginning of the pandemic we have been distributing Holy Communion at the altar rail. We find this helps us distribute Communion both reverently and safely. As more people return to Mass it also might take some getting used to. Please make note of these instructions.

- There are Crosses six feet apart along the step of the rail.
- When coming forward for Communion, please go to the Cross farthest from you in your section (i.e. in the center or on the sides).
- Stand or kneel at that Cross. The minister will bring you Communion.
- If receiving Communion in the hand, please remove your mask first, then receive the Host.
- Consume the Host while at the altar rail and then return to your seat.
- Please remember that members of the same household do not have to practice social distancing and may stand (or kneel) together at the rail.

Once those in the transepts have received, those coming down the main aisle should use the spaces on the sides of the communion rail as well as the front.
