From Our Pastor

Our reflection question today asks us to confront what may be keeping us from truly following Jesus. It is really a question of faith. Can we discard the things that may be preventing true discipleship? Can we recognize and trust the path the Lord puts before us? In our first reading, Elisha promises the one thing the Shunammite woman desires – a child. Reading further into this chapter we see that she does indeed bear a son although her faith will be tested at his early death. This faith, this trust, is rewarded when Elisha raises him from the dead. She recognized Elisha for who he was – a “holy man,” and trusting him with not only her life, but her son’s.

In Matthew, Christ tells the disciples that their singular focus must be Him. Christ warns that they will need to sacrifice, and that their sacrifice may mean loss of friends, family and even their lives. Just before his instructions we hear: “I come not to bring peace, but the sword.” His words are jarring, even a little scary. Remember though, Christ is not saying HE will bring the sword, but the effects of His life and teachings, of following him will bring discord: to society; to our homes; to our workplaces. Truly following Him requires us to live against the grain, to put down our cell phones, turn off the TV and turn our hearts and minds to His service. We do this by serving others; by listening instead of talking; to act against injustice and intolerance instead of standing idle; to “love as much as to be loved.” This is not always popular. Making sure you attend Mass before going out with friends may make them impatient and annoyed. Taking time for prayer may make a spouse feel isolated; including them may make them feel uncomfortable. At our work, our faith may come into direct conflict with a secular entity or environment. In each we must trust, as did the Shunammite woman that the path on which God leads us is the direct path to Him and ultimate salvation. It is not going to be smooth, but by surrounding yourself with those who lift you up coupled with the grace of the Holy Spirit, you can navigate it.

It is fitting that this reading comes on the heels of our recent ordinations. Three men, now promised entirely to God, for God and for us, begin their priestly ministry, and one of these has been assigned to St. James. Please join me in welcoming Father Steve Oetjen (pronounced ate-chen) in his first assignment. I am confident that Father Oetjen will find a warm community here, setting the bar high for future assignments.

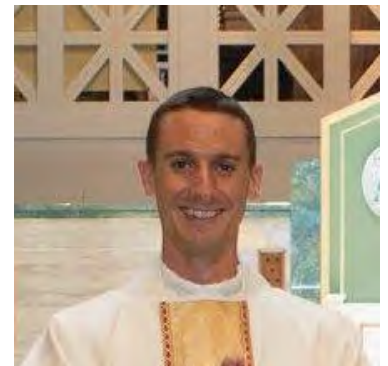

Father Phil Cozzi (yes it rhymes with Posey) comes to us from St. Timothy’s. Some parishioners may remember him from his days as the Chaplain at Bishop O’Connell High School. His energy and spiritual care are well-known.

I look forward to working with both Fathers Cozzi and Oetjen as we continue our spiritual journey together. I hope you will join us as we welcome our new priests at a reception after the Noon Mass on Sunday, July 9.

From Our Bishop Regarding Church Teaching on Immigration

What does the Church teach about immigration?

Week 5: Fears about immigration

During his 2015 visit to Washington and in his address to bishops, Pope Francis highlighted the value that immigrants bring to our society: "Perhaps you will be challenged by their diversity, but know that they also possess resources to be shared. So do not be afraid to welcome them. Offer the warmth of Christ and you will unlock the mystery of their heart. I am certain that, as so often in the past, these people will enrich America and its church." While it is true that a small minority of immigrants become involved in criminal activity, the vast majority are honest and hardworking. To learn more about Church teaching on immigration and find resources for immigration advocacy, visit arlingtondiocese.org/immigration.

Semana #5: Temores sobre la inmigración

Durante su visita a Washington en el año 2015 y su alocución a los obispos, el Papa Francisco destacó el valor que aportan los inmigrantes a nuestra sociedad: "Tal vez a ustedes les atemorice su diversidad, pero sepan que ellos también tienen recursos que compartir. De modo que no tengan miedo de acogerlos. Ofrezcanles el calor de Cristo y descubrirán el misterio que tienen en el corazón. Tengo la seguridad de que, como ha sido frecuente en el pasado, estas personas enriquecerán a los Estados Unidos y a su Iglesia". Si bien es cierto que una pequeña minoría de inmigrantes se dedica a actividades delictivas, la gran mayoría son personas honradas y trabajadoras. Para más información referente a la enseñanza de la Iglesia sobre inmigración y para buscar recursos sobre la defensa de esa causa, visite este sitio: arlingtondiocese.org/immigration

Spiritual Reading for the Summer

Download books FREE from FORMED.org. Just sign in and click "READ" for great titles about parenting, prayer, inspiration, theology and more wonderful works from great Catholic writers.

The fiction offerings include G.K. Chesterton's Manalive, the rollicking tale of Innocent Smith, a man who may be crazy or possibly the most sane man of all. Arriving at a dreary London boarding house accompanied by a windstorm, Smith is an exuberant, eccentric and sweet-natured man. Smith has a positive effect on the house; he creates his own court, brings a few couples together, and falls in love with a paid companion next door. All seems to be well with the world. Michael D. O'Brien's classic Father Elijah and Elijah in Jerusalem are also included.

Volunteers visit and provide companionship to individuals who are alone and are dying. Companions also provide respite for family members who may need to work or take a break from being at the hospital. Volunteers will receive training from the hospital and also training specifically by the Pastoral care department. Volunteers from the community, as well as hospital staff are welcome to apply. Please email Graham Bardsley, Director of Pastoral Care, to express your interest. Chaplain Bardsley will call to arrange an interview

1892–2017 1931-1953 –MEMORIES OF THE FATHER MULLARKEY YEARS

- When we celebrated our 100th anniversary, a parishioner who grew up in St. James and lived here the rest of her life, remembered this: “The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary was an active organization in St. James parish. ... When Father Mullarkey planned the building of the transepts to the original church to meet the needs of the growing congregation, he suggested that the Sodality provide a new statue of Our Lady. I remember a goal of $800, raised over time by bake sales and a successful card party, and today we enjoy the presence of this same statue.”
- Father Mullarkey designated space in the lower level of the addition for the Religious Goods Store, the Parish Library and the Credit Union. The Religious Goods Store and the Library, staffed by volunteers, were in business for 35 years from 1953. St. James School graduates remember their delight in being allowed to cross the street during lunch time to purchase holy cards and little plastic statues with their nickels and dimes.
- Father Mullarkey won the hearts of the school children by declaring St. Patrick’s Day a holiday and by teaching them all – girls as well as boys – the Latin responses to the Mass.
- In 1948, a band of local girls who had horses – Falls Church was still country then – were inspired to organize the “Village Pony and Junior Show” to benefit St. James School, accruing about $50 to present to Father Mullarkey.
- One mother, a parishioner for all her married life, remembered walking to Mass on a cold weekday morning with her two toddlers. Father Mullarkey greeted her after Mass, indignant that the babies were out in the cold, and insisted on driving her and the children – and the big stroller – the two blocks to their home.
- Ray Hall was a non-Catholic neighbor of St. James during Father Mullarkey’s years. In 1976, he was interviewed for the Bicentennial Year volume of Round & About, the parish newsletter. He remembered being close to Paul and Jacques Martin of St. James who lost their lives during World War II. The Catholic War Veterans Post is named for them. “Their father, J. O. Martin, was one of the most important men in Falls Church. For many boys, myself among them, he was like another father, a real inspiration.” Ray also attended the dances at St. James. “We had some pretty girls there,” he said.
- Looking to the future, Father Mullarkey instigated the purchase of land as a site for the future Bishop Denis J. O’Connell High School, built during the tenure of his successor, Father Paul V. Heller.
- Father Mullarkey died in 1953. His grave in our cemetery is marked by a large Celtic cross. Find a plaque in his memory in the main vestibule of this church he loved.
