From Our Pastor

*"What can you do to promote world peace? Go home and love your family."
Mother Teresa*

Families are interesting things. Large or small, one parent or two, they are our introduction to community. How that community interacts with one other (or doesn't) can often play out in ways great and small over generations. Even as we learn elemental things like walking and talking, we are learning about sacrifice, patience, compassion, mercy, forgiveness and unconditional love. We reenact the great story of salvation: Christ's birth; His earthly mission, death, and Resurrection echo in our homes. How we experience these aspects of love (or sadly how we don't experience them) are reflected in how we relate to those around us.

It is no secret that while I recognize God's creative mastery in animals, that doesn't necessarily mean I want to have any of my own. So when I arrived at my brother's house a few weeks ago to spend time with my siblings and their families, imagine my surprise when I was greeted by a large, very large, Saint Bernard. Then another dog. And another. And another. It was like Noah's Ark. Six dogs of various sizes and breeds which all wanted to say hello. My first instinct was, honestly, to run, or to all of a sudden remember I had made hotel reservations.

But of course, I stayed. Because it was my siblings I wanted to see; it was my family with whom I wanted to spend time because we don't get to see each other enough. And that's worth a little dog hair, or, more accurately, a LOT of dog hair.

As we celebrate the Feast of the Holy Family, we listen as the Scripture writers encourage us to live peaceably with one another; to honor our parents; to show love and "let the peace of Christ control your hearts." That is most certainly easier said than done. We argue; we lose patience; sometimes we say or do hurtful things. We test those limits of love, and sometimes even those limits are breached. Sometimes the story of the Prodigal Son doesn't end as well in our own lives.

But I ask you, as we close out one year and prepare to start another, to seek, and to give, the mercy our Lord offers us. As imperfect as we are, God still loves us and wants only what is best for us. And if we, with all our imperfections, can still be lovable, can we not offer that chance to others who may seem (or who have seemed for years) to be unlovable? Can we try, for the umpteenth time in many cases, to mend that breach? So too, can we honor and foster those loving relationships we have so as to not take them for granted?

On behalf of my brother priests, our IHM sisters, deacons, faculty, and staff we wish you a New Year of peace. God bless.

~ Fr. Posey

Parish Communications Survey Coming – January 6

Hi, I am Duane Hyland, Director of Communications for St. James. On behalf of Father Posey, and the Rectory Staff, I wanted to let you know that on January 6 a very important survey will be in the bulletin and online. This will be our inaugural Parish Communications Survey. While we have many ways of getting the news about all the great things going on at St. James out to you – our website, our Facebook page, our Twitter account, our Church digital displays, and our Parish news emails – we don't know what is effective and what isn't. This survey will allow you to tell us what works, what doesn't work, what should stay intact, and what we need to change so that we better meet your needs. Completing the survey should take less than ten minutes and your answers are extremely important and we anxiously await them. Thank you for taking the time to help us serve you better.
